Legume in Wheat Need Plenty of Fertilizer

Alfalfa, Sweet Clover Replenish Organic Matter

Seeding legumes in wheat is like inviting company home to Sunday dinner. You have to provide plenty of food so everybody gets enough to eat.

H. R. Lathrope, Purdue University extension argonomist, says the way to feed legume-wheat seedings is to add a complete, balanced fertilizer at fall seeding time and then Balanced fertilizer applied at fall seeding time and top-dressing with nitrogen in the spring will produce higher yields of both.

top-dress with nitrogen in the spring. Then you'll provide all the nutrients needed by both the wheat and the legumes.

When legumes and small grains are well fed, you not only get higher yields of both, but you build up your soil as well. Alfalfa and sweet clover replenish rundown stocks of organic matter. They put mineralized humus deep down in the subsoil, unlock heavily compacted clay soils and improve drainage and tilth.

Wheat growers in the famous "pocket area" of southwestern Indiana have proved the value of feeding their wheat and legume seedings. Methrope points out Charles Doades, of Davies county, who harvested 43 bushels per acre of No. 1 Vigo wheat on an 80-acre field last summer is a strong believer in fertilizer. He says he got his high yields by adding 650 pounds per acre of 3-12-12 to the seeding the previous fall. Then he top-dressed the entire acreage with nitrogen last spring. Following wheat harvest, there was a thick, lush sweet clover

Mrs. Babcock Appointed to School Office

(Note: The following is reprinted from the Columbia, S. C., Record of June 2):

Mrs. Havilah (Alice C.) Babcock, mathematics teacher and guidance counsellor at Columbia High School, will assume the duties of assistant principal there, succeeding Miss Francenia C. Brennen, who is retiring.

Mrs. Babcock has been associated with the Columbia schools for 25 years. A native of Virginia, she was graduated from Randolph - Macon Woman's College, where she majored in mathematics and minored in chemistry.

She received her master's degree in education at the University of South Carolina. She did a year's graduate work in French and psychology at William and Mary, and has done graduate work at Columbia University, the University of Virginia, and William and Mary.

While living in Williamsburg, she was supervisor in mathematics, teaching at the Matthew Whaley Practice School for William and Mary, and later was instructor in French at the College of William and Mary.

THE KICKOFF

(By Barbara Johnson)

Well, folks, I guess by the time you read this school will be closed and another group of seniors will be entering a new life. Good luck, seniors! May you have the best of everything.

We are glad to see many of our alumni me for the summer. Many are graduating from college.

The government classes met together Tuesday to evaluate the school. Our guests were Miss Anne Harrison and Mr. H. E. Kerr. There were many good suggestions for changes, and many good points of our school were brought out.

At chapel program the senior class presented a flag of the United States to the school and a clock as a gift to Mr. Kerr to show their appreciation to him. Also, the carol choir, under the direction of Mrs. David Good gave a concert. The program was very enjoyable.

We wish to congratulate five of our baseball boys for making the district first string baseball team. They were Calvin Tanner, Bobby Chernault, Bill Jamerson, Ed Cawthorne and Reed Thomas.

The senior class' presentation of "Between the Book Ends" was very good.

Well, readers, I guess this is about all the news for now. I wish to thank Mr. Calvin Robinson for the space he gave me for writing school news and I wish to thank my readers for reading "The Kickoff." Until next year, "May the Good Lord bless and keep you."

Mrs. Martin's Death

Traffic Death Record Appomattox Highway

Richmond, June 6.- As the number of rural traffic deaths for Virginia during 1950 rose from 656 in 1949 to 798, Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Executive Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee, announced that the counties of Bath, Charles City, Gloucester, Greene and Surry maintained perfect records.

Appomattox County had 4 deaths in 1949 and 5 in 1950 for a rate of 75th in the state.

Fifty-eight counties showed increases, 33 decreases and eight remained the same. Largest number of fatalities occurred in Princess Anne which showed 34, while Pittsylvania was second with 26. Fairfax, Caroline and Mecklenburg had 25 each.

On a basis of deaths per 100 million vehicles miles, Buchanan had the worst record with a rate of 42.4. Gloucester is considered to have the best rate since is saw more traffic than any of the other counties with perfect records. The Appomattox County rate was 21.1.

Rural pedestrian deaths rose from 132 in 1949 to 152. Greatest single cause of deaths was automobiles running out of control to leave the roadway and overturn or strike a fixed object or overturn in the roadway.

For the whole state, including the cities and towns, 915 were killed, 21,840 injured and $69 million wasted in property and economic losses. In rural areas 14,752 people were injured.

Seniors At A. H. S. Get Diplomas

Forty-nine members of the Class of 1951 received diplomas last night at commencement exercises at the Appomattox High School. Diplomas were presented by H. E. Kerr, principal. A capacity audience saw the seniors, girls in white caps and gowns and boys in royal blue, end their twelve year public school careers.

Miss June Hill, valedictorian of the class, won the Burke medal for scholarship, presented by Mr. Kerr after Miss Hill's valedictory address. Miss Helen Mae Poe was salutatorian, and made her address following invocation by the Rev. R. Carl Maxwell. James Harris, president of the senior class, presided. Mrs. Louise S. Crawley and Carolyn Gilbert were senior sponors, and the class presented two excellent musical selections under the direction of Miss Harriett Holley and Mrs. W. M. Morris.

The address to the graduates was delivered by Calvin Robinson, Times-Virginian editor. He chose as his topic, "An In-Between Era in History." He stated that in the South, in our national and world affairs, as well as in agriculture, education, religion and the arts of life, we are in an "In-Between" epoch, and that the graduates of today will make major decisions as to the destiny of society. He then urged that Virginia be a leader again, as in the early and formative days of the nation, and set the pattern to excell in the realms of mind and spirit.

At the Pamplin High School last night, the address to the graduates was made by Dean Savage, Longwood College, Farmville.

Young People's Rally Planned

The Young Peoples' Rally of the missionary organizations of the Appomattox W. M. U. Association will be held Sunday, June 10 at Pisgah Church, Rice, Virginia, beginning at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The devotions for the evening will be given by Miss Peggy Whitlow, Y. W. A. of Ebenezer Church, after which the Carol Choir of Liberty Church, Appomattox, will render the Hallelujah Chorus by Handel, and The Prayer from Hansel and Gretel by Humperdinck.

A model coronation service for the Girls' Auxiliary will be presented by the following leaders: Mrs. John Lindsay, Pisgah; Mrs. H. W. Soyars, Pisgah and Mrs. W. A. Odham of Sharon. Among those to be crowned will be Miss Joyce McCormick of Liberty, who has reached the highest award—that of "Queen Regent."

Miss Nancy Elder will give a talk, "The tithe the dime speaks" after which the winners of the sewardship contest will be heard. The preliminary contest will be held at Liberty Church this Saturday at 3 P. M. The winners in this preliminary contest will give their declamations on Sunday. The winners in the association will be given a free trip to the summer camp where they will compete with others from the state for the state contest.

Miss Eva Sanders, medical missionary, of Nigeria, Africa, will bring the missionary message.

There are 37 churches which have junior organizations in this association, which is divided into four groups. Young Peoples' leaders are: Mrs. H. N. Soyars, Rice; Mrs. J. B. Balliett, Phenix; Mrs. Gray Henderson, Brookneal, and Miss Annie T. Davidson, Appomattox. Mrs. Alfred Harwood, Jr., is Young Peoples' Director for the association.

Blood Bank Needs Donors Here June 19

In order to more certainly feel assured of sufficient blood donors for the donation of 125 to 150 pints of blood on the visit of the Bloodmobile to Appomattox on Tuesday, June 19, the general chairman, Rev. R. Carl Maxwell, and the blood recruitment chairman, Richard D. Robinson, have decided to extend the canvassing period for blood donors from the present terminal date of June 5 to Saturday, June 9.

It is hoped that all canvassers will continue signing up donors until June 9, when all signed donor cards must be delivered to Robinson's furniture store. The filing and corresponding committee will have to notify by mail, between June 9 and June 18, all donors as to what time to come to the Appomattox High School cafeteria on June 19 to give a pint of their blood.

Areas of the county from which few donors came February 17 are looked to on June 19 for their proper share in furnishing the life stream of blood so great, needed for saving the lives of civilians and servicemen through transfusions of blood and blood plasma. The Roanoke 308S calls throughout the participating counties for far more blood. The need for blood is much greater than the supply. Blood donor cards can be secured at Robinson's furniture store and should be signed and returned to the store by Saturday, June 9. The bloodmobile will be ready to serve blood donors from 9:30 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. Tuesday, June 19, at the Appomattox High School cafeteria. All donors should write on their cards the hour they prefer to come to the bloodmobile and the committee will do its best to honor the time chosen.

2227 Eligible Voters

The list of eligible voters for the county of Appomattox has just been completed by the county treasurer, and has a total of 2,227 names.

This list represents those eligible to vote in the August primary and November general election.
